Education and training needs of palliative care professionals

When caring for people seeking assisted dying

Help us understand what education, training and resources palliative care professionals need when caring for people who are considering or seeking assisted dying.

We want to hear about:

Your education and training needs
for you and your team.

What resources would help
you in your clinical practice.

Your experiences and challenges
when patients raise or seek assisted dying.

Your experience matters.

Thank you for contributing to important international research.

Who can take part?

All palliative care professionals worldwide, regardless of whether assisted dying is legal where you work or how much experience you have.

All perspectives are welcome.

We want to hear from professionals who support, oppose or are undecided about assisted dying.
